- 2) It is the obligation of every infantry Company commander to ensure that all of the infantrymen in his Company can perform all of the tasks on this form competently and safely. Each Company commander and NCO will sign this form as well as the soldier and forward a copy to their Battalion or Regimental command to be kept on file.
- 3) Each Battalion/Regiment will keep all certified soldiers on file and either send copies to the Division or have them on hand at events.

TRANSFERS

lowed:

Although the transfer of a Company from one ANV Battalion/Regiment to another is strongly discouraged, there are those rare occasions where this may be requested. Should a request to transfer arise the following protocol must be fol-

- 1) The Company Commander of the unit that wishes to transfer must first have an open communication with his Battalion/Regimental commander and try to resolve the issue/issues at hand.
- 2) The Company Commander of said Company must submit in writing/email his request to transfer to A) The Battalion/Regimental commander he wishes to leave, B) The Battalion/Regimental Commander of the organization he wishes to join, and C) The Chief of Staff of the ANV.
- 3) In the Gentlemanly fashion of two ANV Commanders, the two Colonels involved must communicate via phone or email.
- 4) If both Battalion/Regimental commanders agree to this transfer they will notify the General through the Chief of Staff. The General will approve the transfer and officially notify the Company Commander and the ANV Insurance Chief.
- 5) If one of the two or both Battalion/Regimental Commanders does not approve of the transfer the process stops and the following occurs:
- a) If BOTH Commanders say no then the ANV General, after conferring with the Chief of Staff, will contact the Company Commander and give two options: 1. Resolve issues with their current Battalion/Regimental Commander or 2. Find another organization other than the ANV.
- b) If one Battalion/Regimental Commander says No then there will be a discussion between that Commander and the ANV General. If that Commander is the Battalion/Regimental Commander that the Company wishes to leave, and his answer remains No, the General will refer the transfer request to the Board of Directors for a decision to support the Company or the Battalion/Regimental Commander.
- c) In the event that the Board votes in favor of the Battalion Commander, then said Company Commander may request to start the process over with another ANV Battalion/ Regiment. This request must be stated to the General during the initial advisory communication between the two. The process may only be tried one more time and must be followed to the letter.

DISCIPLINE

War Between the States reenacting as a whole is a volunteer hobby and the ANV is no exception. As a voluntary organization that is constructed on a paramilitary framework with rank structure and specific procedures and guidelines, the First Division Army of Northern Virginia has, not only the inherent right, but an obligation to enforce any and all breeches of those written procedures and guidelines. By mutual consent, all of the independent organizations that voluntarily apply and willingly join the umbrella organization known as the 1st Division ANV, enter that pact with the knowledge that the ANV has the right to enforce stated procedures and guidelines in, not only the 1st Division SOP's but each Branch's SOP's as well.

A) INFRACTIONS

1) Conduct on the field and/or at events that undermines the ANV functioning or causes disruption and/or harm to others or the 1st Division ANV is an offense that can warrant disciplinary action. Examples of such conduct are, but not limited to, disobeying an order from a superior officer on the field, disrupting with intent to cause injury during any

- officer's meeting, or drunkenness in the camps. Any conduct violations can result in verbal reprimand, suspension or removal of that individual or unit from the ANV.
- 2) As War Between the States reenacting is a hobby that involves the use of black powder, safety violations are taken very seriously. Safety Violations can result in suspension or removal of an individual or a Unit from the ANV.

B) PROCESS FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION

The enforcement of discipline on any conduct or safety violation will follow the same process.

- 1) A clear and concise written charge will be submitted to the ANV General through the Chief of Staff.
 - 2) The General will review the charge(s) and investigate any issues that he see's fit.
- 3) The General, through the Chief of Staff, will submit the written charge(s) and any significant and pertinent information to the Board of Directors. This will initiate a formal Court of Inquiry.
- 4) When the Board concludes its review of the case, a vote will be taken by the full Board resulting in one of four decisions.
 - a) Dismissal of charges
 - b) Written reprimand
 - c) Suspension from the ANV with all privileges therewith
 - d) Removal from the ANV
- 5) It takes a majority vote on one of the four above listed options to make it an official decision.

C) APPEAL OF THE DECISION OF A BOARD OF INQUIRY

- 1) As the ANV is a voluntary hobby, club if you will, and where as any voluntary group, club, hobby has the right to decide who they want in that group, club, hobby, and as the Board of Directors represents the entire membership, all decisions made by the majority of that Board, in the case of a violations Board of Inquiry, are final. Therefore there is no appeal process.
- 2) The CEO of the 1st Division ANV will notify the accused of the verdict of the Board of Inquiry via Certified Letter and may also phone or email the decision to the individual or unit.

ARTICLE XI

ATTENDANCE AT EVENTS

A) MAXIMUM EFFORT EVENTS

- 1) Each November the ANV meets for a general convention. At that convention member organizations vote on attending up to three "max effort" ANV events. As a member of a parent organization with all the benefits, including insurance coverage, that membership provides, the expectation is an inherent duty to support that parent organization.
- 2) Therefore, although it is desired that all "max effort" ANV events are supported by its member organizations, attendance at a minimum of one ANV "max effort" event each year is mandatory to maintain full membership status. The exception to this is restrictive registration that can exclude ANV Artillery/Cavalry numbers and make it impossible in any given year to meet this requirement.
- 3) In the event a Company or Battalion/Regiment fails to meet the minimum attendance requirement, they will be put on probationary status at that year's ANV Convention with the loss of voting status. If the following year that same company or Battalion/Regiment meets the minimum requirement, they may be returned to full membership status. If said Company, Battalion/Regiment fails to meet the minimum attendance requirement the following year they will automatically be removed from the ANV.

- 4) In regards to a Company receiving credit for attendance at a max effort event, that Company must field a minimum of five Combatants, preferably being rifles.
 - 5) Attendance is to be monitored at each ANV event.

B) INSURANCE COVERAGE FOR MEMBER'S EVENTS

- 1) Although the ANV has the best insurance coverage in reenacting, there are some instances where individuals can put themselves into a "gray area" that could cause them to void coverage.
- 2) ANV insurance is essentially "company based" through each Battalion/Regiment. What does this mean? Because of our comprehensive rules and regulations regarding safety we are viewed as having a much lower liability risk than organizations with inferior safety standards or worse yet, none at all. Our Officers and Military are all well schooled in safety issues. Therefore, if an individual or handful of ANV members puts themselves under the command and control of another organization without an ANV member Officer to command them they may very well void their coverage. If an ANV Company or Battalion is under the direct command of their ANV officer while at an event where that Company or Battalion is under the command of another organization, it is reasonable to assume that ANV Officer will order his men to "stand down" if commanded to involve his men in anything unsafe. In the same token, if an ANV officer allows non-ANV troops to "fall in" with his ANV troops that Officer is taking on ALL liability should an accident happen.
- 3) Our insurance is based on the premise that each soldier is standing beside or working with another ANV member while handling/firing black powder. On the other hand, anyone, Civilian or Military, that is doing a presentation at a school etc., and does not put themselves under the command of a non-ANV insured Officer, is obviously covered as long as that event has been submitted for the master list of ANV events. Common sense applies here, and it is best to stay clear of "gray areas" when it comes to liability.
- 4) ANV Insurance DOES NOT COVER ANY PARTICIPATION WHATSOEVER WITH LIVE FIRING OF ANY TYPE. If you are involved in any live firings you are operating outside of the coverage of the ANV Insurance and assume FULL liability.

ARTICLE XII RESERVE OFFICER CORPS

This is a designation for any current or former member of the ANV that is unable to fully participate due to health, injury, or other issues, but still wants to be part of the ANV family. A place will be made for those individuals by the Division to camp and enjoy ANV fellowship.

ARTICLE XIII HONORARY GENERAL At the successful conclusion of his term as an ANV General, that General will be bestowed with Honorary General status. Although this is not a command position, any and all past ANV Generals are welcome and encouraged to camp with the Division at events and may be used in an advisory capacity.
